Career Opportunities

The Bachelor of Security Studies (B.S.S.) in Intelligence, Security Studies, and Analysis is a distinctive degree addressing the growing need for undergraduate-level study of the intelligence discipline and its relationships to national security issues such as policy making; military strategy, planning, and operations; and Constitutional issues and the rule of law in a democracy. The degree is ideal for those currently employed within, or with an interest in working for, agencies within the Intelligence Community (including the Department of Defense). The program will improve students' cognitive, analytical, decision-making, advising, and leadership skills within the intelligence profession.

Graduates can expect to work in any of these settings:

U.S. military

Department of State

Federal civil service agencies

Department of Defense

Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI)

International relations consulting, intelligence, security or education companies

Department of Security Studies and Criminal Justice
