Ag Club:

The purpose of the Agriculture (Ag) Club at Howard College is to provide students with opportunities to enhance their knowledge and skills in agriculture through hands-on learning experiences, networking, and involvement in community and industry-related events. The club aims to promote agricultural education, leadership development, and professional growth, helping students build connections with professionals in the field, engage in service projects, and participate in competitive events such as judging teams or FFA support. It fosters a community of students who are passionate about agriculture and its related industries, contributing to both personal and career development.
